Chris Wildeboer

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT SPECIALIST | WORKSHOP FACILITATOR

Empower your team to step up to challenges while engaging with everyone within the business

From 2 hours to 5 day workshops, Chris' extensive experience and expertise is available for your team. With customized workshops designed specifically to the needs of your organisation.

Is your team struggling and confused about decisions and priorities? Would you like your team to have clarity in their communication?

Highly sought after facilitator, Chris Wildeboer, can help your team stay focused and get your team on track. A best-selling author, the creator of the Unlock Your Power Program, Chris is the ideal solution for your next team meeting, management retreat or conference.

Chris's extensive repertoire of personal and professional expertise are in-tune with the challenges we all experience throughout our life.

Turning struggle into triumph, Chris will provide you and your team with the tools to handle the difficult situations and move forward to a more prosperous and productive future.

If you would like your team to move from Confusion to Clarity contact Chris at Balance Central for available dates.

Can you relate to any of these situations?

~ Individuals are mentally exhausted

~ Team members are not communicating with each other

~ Team members are not communicating with each other

Chris shows your team how to:

~ Feel more relevant

~ Be empowered to contribute to team decisions

~ Come to together to work towards a common goal

To have my staff messaging me after the meeting asking when we can do something like this again, and how focused and excited they are for the new year, is priceless for me! My advice for anyone sitting on the fence about having Chris come and chat to their team... I say do it. You won't regret the positive impact that it will have and the future and growth for your business.

Renee Rablin, Principal, Do Dance Academy

INSPIRING EFFORTLESS RESULTS

balance central

TOPICS

TOPIC 1:
The Next Step in Effective Communication

Do you see your team crumbling before your eyes?

Would you like everyone in your team to be communicating effectively?

Every person on the team comes with the right skills and experience and yet communication is not always easy. When team members are communicating effectively everything runs smoother and problems that do appear seem to be worked out easily and with minimum effort.

We all have issues communicating with others and this is because we all see the world through our own perspective.

The Next Step in Effective Communication focuses on the positive contributions of others, identifies that we all have innate strengths and ensures that effective team focus can be achieved.

TOPIC 2:
The Next Step in Decision Making

Are your team members feeling frustrated and exhausted?

Would you like them to have complete confidence in their decision making process?

We can get caught up in working hard to achieve our goals and forgetting to stop and take stock of the direction we are moving in. When a pause is created, focus can be given to innate strengths of an individual.

The Next Step in Decision Making provides the ability to step away from the busyness and to see what is missing in the team. With momentum established the team becomes more productive, more engaged and focused on striving towards where you need them to be.

Lulua Group of Companies, Kuwait - The Next Step Workshop

"I learnt many new observations about myself and my other colleagues. I will use my new found knowledge by implementing it in my work, life, family and myself." HUZAIFA KAKUMAMA

TOPIC 3:
The Next Step in Productivity

Do the teams KPI's always seem just out of reach?

Would you prefer to be pleasantly surprised by the results of your team?

Team targets are set, the KPI's are decided on and then somewhere between setting the targets and achieving them, they are not achieved. By focusing on what is motivating your team on an individual level, it has an immediate impact on the output in their work.

The Next Step in Productivity shows how simple changes create amazing outcomes through understanding everyone's motivations and individual strengths.

The Facial Hub – The Next Step Team Mentoring

"How eye opening it was in regards to changing my language with clients, and how Chris was very spot on about certain traits of mine. It has confirmed some of my qualities and tendencies, and given me some insight moving forward." RACHELLE

CLICK HERE for Conversations with Chris